CREATE REAL

You have all you need to make your own real LEGO movies with this cool moviemaking set. All you have to add is a computer and your imagination.

SETS & SCRIPT!

Now you can build your own magical movie set. Be inspired, get script ideas from the CD-ROM and the Director's Handbook.

Start your film by thinking of a story. What if a dinosaur was loose in different LEGO worlds? Or what would happen in Jurassic Park 3?

CAMERA!

Plug the MovieMaker camera into your PC and you're ready to film action scenes, stop motion animation, or both.

ACTION!

Earthquake! The ground shakes, big buildings fall when you pull a pin... a road splits open. Can things get more exciting? Yes! A terrible T-rex terrorizes the town. Get an intense close-up of its giant foot crushing a car. Cool!

MOVIE MAKER SET!

Steven Spielberg

All his proceeds are donated to Starbright Foundation and Shoah Foundation.

EDIT! If you don't like your movie's ending, shoot it again. Put scenes in order, redo endings, and take parts out. To add to the drama, the software helps you create special effects, add sounds, and make monsters move. Plus you'll find Director's tips included on the CD-ROM.

SHOWTIME!

When your film is ready, grab some popcorn and gather around the computer. Hit PLAY and let the film roll. For the world premiere, e-mail the film to your friends.

 in his blue parka, strapped on snowshoes. The arctic team was flying over the Atlantic Ocean to reach the South Pole.  asked  "Where are we landing?"  said, "Seal Bay, it's a small ice sheet, We should be arriving there shortly, right Crystal?"  the pilot turned around and said, "Yeah, but there's a problem. The Polar Base scientists said the ice sheet is not very strong right now. We'll try it though." The ice sheet came into vision. The helicopter gently landed on it. "The ice is cracking!"  yelled. Cracks were beneath the chopper's skids. The team left quickly and returned later in the Polar Explorer. With it, the crew dragged the chopper to shore. Then the team took off again in the chopper and sped away to Polar Base to pick up the Mobile Outpost vehicle. They all ate lunch in it while driving south. A  was chasing them. It bit off a flood light and  flung pretzels out the window. The  ran after the pretzels and left the crew alone. When the crew reached the South Pole, they lit a fire, stuck up a flag, and warmed up on the bottom of the world.
